FOUR DAYS' RAIN BEST OF THE YEAR

FARMERS ARE JOYOUS OVER COPIOUS DOWNPOUR

GRAIN, FRUIT, VEGETABLE CROPS ASSURED STATE

Intermittent Showers Over California Total 2½ Inches in Some Localities —Coast Points Hit By Onslaught of Wind.

San Francisco.—The 4-day intermittent rains have brought joy to the entire state and as much as 2½ inches of moisture in some places.

In the southern localities and the upper San Joaquin valley, where rain was needed most, the fall was heavy, in the south particularly, the averages were well over an inch.

San Francisco bay and points along the coast, Sunday, were hit by high winds that caused considerable property damage and threatened the lives of several seamen. Several collisions, causing minor damage, occurred on the bay.

Air mail to and from San Francisco was delayed five hours, Sunday, by heavy snow between Reno and Cheyenne. Despite the difficulty in flying over the snowcapped Sierra, there has been but little loss of time between San Francisco and Reno. Until the present rainfall, the grain prospects in the southern San Joaquin valley were dubious.

In the Sacramento valley and coast regions the rainfall has protracted the spring season a month. At Sacramento, the city was greeted by the chill breath of winter, Sunday, after basking in warm sunshine for a month.

In the mountains precipitation took the form of snow from the Oregon line to Mexico. At Summit, according to the weather bureau at Sacramento, more than five feet of snow is on the ground. Over the rest of the Sierra and the Tehachapi mountains the white blanket averaged one foot, while a half-inch was reported from Mount Wilson. A slight covering spread over Mount Diablo and Mount Tamalpais, but soon melted.

In the hill country near San Jose a slight covering of snow was reported. Reports received by the weather bureau were to the effect that hail which fell for a brief period Sunday in several parts of the state, accompanied by high wind, did some damage to fruit blossoms. This damage, it was stated, was more than offset by the benefits from the rain. The blossom period has been so long drawn-out this year that hail, cold and rain have been unable to destroy all the bloom, which is unusually heavy.

Among the districts which have reported more than an inch of rain were San Francisco, Fresno, Lindsay, Mount Hamilton, Paso Robles, Porterville, Santa Barbara, Santa Rosa and San Luis Obispo. The latter had a record rainfall of the storm, the precipitation there totaling 2.53 inches.

Considerable damage was caused at Long Beach by heavy rain and a party of fishermen narrowly escaped being blown out to sea when high winds caused their boat to drag anchor.

GEN. SUTTER'S BODY MAY REST WITHIN FORT HE FOUNDED

Sacramento.—Marc Peter, minister for Switzerland to the United States, has pledged his support to a plan broached by local pioneers for removing the body of Sacramento's Swiss founder, General John H. Sutter, from its resting place in Pennsylvania and placing it in a tomb here at the old fort which bears his name. Assemblyman Percy G. West of Sacramento, one of the sponsors of the movement, said a fund of $1,500 has been raised to have the body of General Sutter buried, fittingly, in the courtyard of the fort he built.

General Sutter established Sutter's fort in 1839, after encountering hostility among the Indians. The discovery of gold was indirectly brought about by the famous Swiss general, as James Marshall was erecting a lumber mill at Colma under Sutter's orders when the precious metal was uncovered.

Jap Diet Passes Suffrage

Tokyo.—The Japanese diet has passed the universal manhood suffrage bill, ending a deadlock which climaxed the bitterest struggle between the cabinet and the house of peers staged for many years. The measure enfranchises all men over 25 regardless of property qualifications, but excludes recipients of public or private charity or partial financial support on account of poverty.

GERMAN VOTERS FAIL TO CHOOSE

CANDIDATES LACK MAJORITY TO INSURE CHOICE

SOCIALIST PARTY SCORES SUBSTANTIAL INCREASE

Dr. Karl Jarres, Nationalist-Conservative Bourgeoise Candidate Led the Poll—Second Balloting Is Set For April 26.

Berlin.—The elections held throughout Germany, Sunday, in the first popular balloting for president of the republic, failed to elect, no candidate having the required majority.

Dr. Karl Jarres, the candidate of the combined Nationalist and the Conservative Bourgeoise parties, led the poll with 10,787,000. Otto Braun, the Socialist nominee, polled 7,838,000 and former Chancellor Dr. William Marx, Centrist, 3,988,000. Approximately 27,300,000 votes were cast, or 3,000,000 fewer than in the parliamentary elections last December. This is equivalent to about ten per cent of the electoral.

The other candidates polled as follows:

Ernest Thaelmann, Communist	1,885,000
Dr. Hellpach, Premier of Baden, Demorcatic Party	1,582,000
Dr. Held, Bavarian People's Party	999,000
General Ludendorff, Fascist Party	210,000
Scattering	30,000

The second balloting will take place April 26, and on that occasion the candidate obtaining the largest number of votes will be elected. The same candidates may be on the lists, or the various parties or combinations of parties may name new candidates.

The outstanding feature of the voting was the substantial gains scored by the Socialist party, which again established its title as the strongest individual party in Germany.

Comparison with the vote in the Reichstag election of last December reveals a large percentage of stay-at-homes, due to the indifference of the voters and the conviction that a second election is inevitable.

The vote polled by Dr. Jarres failed to indicate the expected inroads by the National Conservative bourgeoise that the bloc in the vote of the Liberal parties has indicated.

"ROARING LION" PRIESTESS PLEA TEMPORARY INSANITY

Oroville.—Temporary insanity will be the plea of Mrs. Anna Rhodes, "Roaring lion of the house of Judah," who, with her husband Edward, was released under $5,000 bail each, in connection with the torture and subsequent death of her brother, Herman Schalow in Butte county's weird fire cult episode. Her defense was indicated in a formal statement by her sister, Mrs. Olive Humphreys of San Francisco, an evangelist in the Pentacostal church. Mrs. Humphreys repeated the story of her visit to her sister's home some weeks ago and the strange ceremony she witnessed, adding that her sister was temporarily insane at the time.

The state will demand that Mrs. Rhodes and her husband, Edward, who was present at the branding and whom the state will attempt to hold as a party to the torture, prove that she was insane prior to the branding of Schalow and that such insanity was not brought on by her confessed act of placing the hot irons to Schalow's flesh.

$1,000,000 Mid-West Prairie Fire

Valentine, Neb.—A definite check-up of the ravages of the prairie fires which raged over north central Nebraska and across the line in the vicinity of the Rosebud Indian reservation in South Dakota, showed that no lives were lost and no towns destroyed, but that property damage amounting to approximately $1,000,000 was caused. The earlier reports that fires had destroyed the villages of Tuthill, Vetal and St. Francis, all in South Dakota, were found to be untrue when telephonic communication was restored. These towns were threatened and required heroic efforts on the part of their residents to save them.

Shoals Commission Named

Washington.—A commission to study the Muscle Shoals problem, consisting of former Representative McKenzie of Illinois, former Senator Dial of South Carolina, Professor Harry A. Curtis of Yale University, William McClellan of New York and Russell F. Bower, of the American Farm Bureau Federation has been named by President Coolidge.

MRS. MIRACLE INJURED IN AUTO CRASH

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Miracle who were on their way to Pacific Grove last Friday were victims of an auto accident a few miles this side of that city.

The driver of a Ford car who was in too much of a hurry to reach home, attempted to pass their machine, but in so doing caught the hind wheel of the Miracle car, whirled it around and it went over the grade, nose down, some eight or ten feet. The offending car turned around and over, thru a fence and like the old "one hoss shay", disintegrated. Neither the driver, his wife or any of the three children were injured altho they crawled out and thru various parts of the wreckage.

Mr. Miracle also came off unscratched but Mrs. Miracle was quite badly injured. She was taken to the home of friends in Pacific Grove and when the seriousness of her injuries developed, Mrs. M. E. Hoerler and Mrs. O. A. Putnam went over and the Place ambulance from Los Gatos brought her to the San Jose hospital.

X-ray pictures were taken which showed a badly fractured knee. As this knee had been broken once before, it will require considerable time to mend. It was to be put in a plaster cast as soon as the swelling was sufficiently reduced. Tuesday she was in great pain but Wednesday was resting more comfortably.

Three times before Mrs. Miracle had been in auto accidents, in one of which she was badly injured, and which had rendered her extremely nervous. Her family and friends trust that this may not prove the "last straw" to despoil her of outing trips.

UNSEEN MYSTERIES OF THE AIR

Radio, coming so quickly and mysteriously out of the ethereal vastness, brings with it suggestions that will open new avenues to the scientific world and new marvels to the layman. Already the puzzling factor we call "static" is looked upon as a disturbance which experts soon will be able not only to modify but capitalize into new usefulness. To them it is regarded as an indication of something else to master and new worlds of phenomena to conquer. Thus they hope to bring new forces into the service of mankind.

Scarcely a morning dawns that does not bring with it new discoveries in radio energy. Now that radio photographs can be sent across the oceans, why can we not conjecture that the next step will bring the transference of "sight" waves as well as those of sound and light? Movies by radio! Why not? Are the nerves that run into the labyrinth of the ear less deilcate than those of the eye? Or would it be too fantastical to suggest that we many finally get our meals—food enegry—by radio, which would prevent much tiresomeness of standing in line at cafeterias, much annoyance from the outstretched palms of waiters, and, withal, give mother more time at the club or to engage in running for governor?

The laughable of today becomes the realistic of tomorrow. For a long time the molecule was thought to be the smallest fathomable unit. Then along came the atom. Now they split up the atom, and find little electrons revolving in myriad billions around tiny systems as infinitely small in contemplation as our solar system is large. Then, in an effort to define the electron, the conclusion is reached that it is energy. And finally, someone (whose audacious proposals we have neither the inclination nor the mental equipment to contradict) comes along and ventures that this energy is translated into mind, spirit, or the all-source!

We can do more than watch and wait. We can apply these newly discovered forces into constructive works for humanity. The problem is not so much what is coming, but what are we going to do with what is already here? Whether the harnessing of natural forces be used to promote the arts of peace or the perniciousness of war, whether to further the happiness of man or increase his sorrow, will be left to the discretion of ourselves and posterity.

MISSING CYLINDER OF A COMMUNITY

The progressive town is like a fine six or eight cylinder car, purring along evenly as it carries its passengers, the residents of the community, over the hills that stand in the way of prosperity.

But sometimes a good looking town, like the roads are level, but upon reaching a hill of many beautiful cars, will roll along evenly while business adversity, will slow up, knock and jerk, and finally come to a dead stop before it reaches the crest.

A missing cylinder, you say? Yes, and that missing cylinder is the man or woman who shows no interest in home town business or in the welfare of the community.

ECONOMY

Economy in finances is only a small portion of life's real economy that protects us against the "rainy day." Every little development of body, mind or soul, and every little abstinence from harmful materials, practises or influences—though apparently of small consequence at the time—throughout the years add to our strength of character and attainments to better prepare us for the crisis when it comes. And to every one of us the crises comes. It may be a crises calling for physical endurance to span impending death or disaster; or it may be a crises of the heart to withstand sorrow. Individaul strength properly used strengthens the world. There is service in self-preparation.

LAWLESS DRINKING

"Lawless drinking is a menace to the Republic itself."

So said the late President Harding in a public address a short time before his death.

No man can have respect for himself and certainly cannot have the respect of his friends and neighbors if he knowingly does that which is a menace to his country.

President Harding was right when he uttered the above sentence. Lawless drinking encourages lawlessness. This lawless spirit so encouraged may commit other forms of lawlessness. All lawlessness is a menace to the government, for obedience to and respect for law is the foundation stock of the Republic.

Herald Morton has purchased the corner lot of the Bertha Barron property on Campbell avenue and Los Gatos road and plans to begin operations soon for the erectioin of a seven room bungalow. Harry Miatt was the successful bidder for the construction.

Herald Morton got pinched by cops with blinders on in Contra Costa county Sunday. These men were camouflaged in touring cars with the curtains drawn. After pacing him for miles they grabbed him just as he sped up for a hill. That's it, sneak up on 'em if they're tame. Anybody can catch 'em if they're wild.

Wayne Sanders went to Chico Saturday to attend the funeral services o fhis brother-in-law, Rutherford Betts, who passed away in New York the week befor e. Mr. Betts was a former resident of Campbell having built a house on Sunnyside some years ago. He is survived by a sister Anna, and brothers, Archie and Clifford.

Clarence A. Lund

On last Friday the community was saddened by the death from spinal menengitis of the little son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lund. For several days it had been recognized that his life could not be saved. The particular form of the disease which took him, so far baffles medical skill.

Clarence was a sturdy lad of less than four years. He was bright and happy and very active in his play. He had come to count upon the time spent at the Sunday school as one of the interesting experiences of his life. He prized the papers and picture cards given him and would beg to have them read to him. One of the songs which he loved and sang about the house was "Jesus loves me, this I know, for the Bible tells me so."

Very comforting and helpful services were held Saturday under the direction of Rev. W. E. Eckles from the Place Funeral Home at Los Gatos and the body was laid to rest in Los Gatos cemetery. The large gathering of friends and the wealth of beautiful flowers expressed the sympathy which is extended to the bereaved parents and sisters, by the entire community.

Alice E. Chapin

Mrs. Alice E. Chapin passed away at the hospital last Friday at the age of 74 years and 8 months. She was born at Epping, N. H. in 1850. She attended school at Bradford Academy, a school well known for its high standing at that time. After the death of her husband she went to India where she spent several years in the mission field but owing to poor health was compelled to return to the United States, having lived the past 15 years at Campbell, where she was well known for her remarkable Christion character.

Funeral services were held from San Jose Saturday, interment being at Oak Hill cemetery. Rev. G. E. Atkinson, of Ceres, came over to take part in the services.

Austin G. Noftz

After long and painful suffering from an incurable malady, Austin G. Noftz, passed away at his home on Hamilton avenue Saturday.

The funeral services were held from the Monohan Parlors in San Jose, Monday and cremation held at Mt. Olivet cemetery.

The deceased is survived by the bereaved wife and three sons, Mervin, Cleo and Leo, his parents, two brothers and a sister.

Mr. Noftz for some time was manager of the Orchard City Theatre and sub-leased it to Mr. Saso a short time ago.

The heartfelt sympathy of friends is extended the bereaved ones in their sad hour.

Mrs. Powell Passes

Friends were grieved to hear of the death of Mrs. W. W. Powell at Durham, Cal. March 19, after a short illness. For some years Mrs. Powell lived in Campbell with her family.

She was blessed with a sweet soprano voice and was ever most gracious in using her talents for others. She was laid to rest in the family lot at Durham. The sincere sympathy of friends are extended the bereaved ones, W. W. Powell, Ruth, Marild and Emma May, who survive.

G. S. Robson although he is improving steadily and looking much better is still on the convalescent list from his recent operation for removal of his tonsils.

The Higbie Studio Tea Room and Gift Shop at the "Sign of the Palette" north of Haywards on 14th street, held its formal opening Saturday. Many Campbell folks who are friends of Mr. and Mrs. Higbie will be pleased to know of this congenial tea shop where a friendly hand may greet them when enroute to the east bay cities.

TEAM WORK

It is not the guns of Armament,
Or the money they can pay!
It is the close co-operation
That makes them win the day.
It is not the individual or the
Army as a whole;
But the everlastin' teamwork
Of every bloomin' soul.

Knew the Type of Man Her Hubby Would Be

The bus was full inside, the weather being very bad; but Mrs. Cox, feeling sure that there was room for one, entered the bus, and, seating herself wedge-like between two of the passengers, soon contrived by sheer weight to make herself quite comfortable.

No one observed Mr. Cox, who, despite the pouring rain, made the best of a bad job outside.

Presently the conductor came to collect the fares.

"Take two fares; my husband is on top," commanded Mrs. Cox.

"Can't your husband take his own ticket? How am I to know which is your husband?"

"Take two fares, young man—one for me and one for my husband."

"Very well, mum!" replied the conductor. "I think I can picture the sort of man your husband is now. There certainly won't be two like him on top."—London Tit-Bits.

HIS OBJECTION

"Well, what do you think of our Presidential timber?"

"I don't like the bark."

Fought Under the Sea

A diver named Cappadona tells a graphic story of a terrific underwater encounter which he has just had with a sting-ray more than a yard square.

While repairing cables off the French Mediterranean coast, Cappadona spotted the fish behind some rocks. Suddenly the ray dashed at him and almost stunned him with a blow of the tail.

The man defended himself with the dagger divers always carry and stabbed the fish between the eyes, but a perfect rain of tail blows followed, and the fish only made off when apparently bleeding to death.

The sting-ray emits electrical shocks with its tail.

When drawn up, Cappadona was found to have been seriously wounded.

Big Demand for Poles

The pole business in British Columbia is developing rapidly. In the Vancouver forestry district alone there are more than 200 operators, employing some 800 men and considerable equipment, getting out red cedar poles, and in the whole province it is estimated that not less than 500 concerns employ more than 2,000 men in this class of work. In the year 1923 more than 16,000,000 feet of poles were produced in British Columbia, of an estimated value of $1,600,000.

Here's Speed

A young man was standing on the street corner the other day waiting for a street car. After 15 minutes of waiting an old, bony mule, driven by a sleepy negro and drawing a ramshackle wagon, ambled by.

"Uncle," shouted the young man, "you didn't see anything of a street car up the street, did you?"

"Yas, suh; yas, suh," he replied. "It'll be here after awhile. I jest passed it about four blocks back."—Harrisburg Telegraph.

Magnetic Coal Saver

Electromagnets of great power are used in new types of fuel-saving machinery to pick the clinkers out of the unburned coal, says Popular Science Monthly. The principle underlying the new type of clinker separator depends on two simple facts: First, that clinkers and coal do not fuse, and, second, that practically all clinkers contain a little iron and are therefore weakly magnetic.

Driver's Luminous Gloves

Luminous gloves are being worn by motor drivers in Paris, France. A red light showing on the back of the outstretched hand is switched on by bringing the thumb and forefinger together.

Need Not Be Experts to Read Weather Signs

If the atmosphere is clear in the evening or morning the sun's light is red, because the blue, of which the ordinary white light of the sun is made up, has been absorbed by the great length of atmosphere through which the slanting rays of the sun have to pass.

In the evening the rosy light of the sunset illumines the clouds on the eastern side of the sky. This shows that the clouds have gone by and are taking the rain with them. Thus we get red at night, indicating fine weather. In the morning, the rising sun being in the east, the light illuminates the western horizon and its clouds, which are on their way to us. We need not be shepherds to know that if the sky is red and lowering in the morning we are in for a good "soaker" before lunch time comes.

Probably These Suits Have Record for Wear

A strange sacred dance is given in Seville cathedral thrice yearly. The occasions are Christmas, Easter and Corpus Christi.

The performers are choir boys and the dance is slow and dignified, with four figures not unlike the "Sir Roger de Coverley." The dance is preceded by prayers.

One of the picturesque details of the dance is the costumes worn by the boys, which consist of white breeches, shoes and stockings, and tunics of red and yellow stripes.

The costumes are extremely old and patched, for a curious reason. Many years ago the authorities tried to stop the dance. The people of Seville objected so vigorously that it was agreed to allow the dances to continue until the costumes wore out. This they never have done, for the clothes have been patched and patched until very little of the original costumes can remain.

His Trophy

"Now and then we read some version of the venerable lie about a gentleman who sought shelter under a tree during a thunder storm," said old Gaunton Grimm. "The tree was struck by lightning and the man knocked gallywinding and senseless, but recovered in due course, and was ever thereafter able to display for the edification of the morbid minded the imprint of a leafy branch on his back, photographed there by lightning. But I actually have yet on my gable-end the impression of a bootjack limned there when I was a small boy by my respected sire."—Kansas City Star.

Proper Attire

Mother was taking a mental inventory of the wardrobe of Doris, three years old, early Sunday morning. Doris was growing fast and mother, very busy otherwise, had neglected her wardrobe for a few weeks and at last mother exclaimed:

"Doris, I don't know what you'll wear to Sunday school today."

Doris, who had received a locket, of which she was very proud, as a birthday present several weeks before, looked up brightly and said:

"I'll wear my locket, mamma."—Indianapolis News.

Hard Luck Indeed

A friendly act proved a seriously painful one for Charles A. Schemmp of Williamsport, Pa. Schemmp, who is an inspector on a sewer job, pulled a piece of pipe out of the way of an approaching automobile and stood nearby as the car moved by. The automobile struck the end of the pipe and caused it to fly around and strike Schemmp, knocking him to the ground and breaking his legs.

Canada's Domestic Animals

The number of horses in Canada increased in 1924 by more than 100,000, there being 3,546,233 horses classed as farm live stock. The cattle population of Canada (exclusive of British Columbia) is 9,198,714. Horses showed an increase in every province but New Brunswick and Ontario. Cows increased in every province except Ontario.

Aristocratic Laundress

A Manchester (N. H.) laundress who drives her car to the various homes where her services are in demand, has refused, since cold weather set in, to work for any but those having heated garages as she does not wish to have the radiator of her car freeze while she is at the washtubs.

Five thousand people participated in the celebration held at Yuma, marking the completion of the road leading westward into California. Officials of California and Arizona were in attendance as well as delegations from practically every city in Arizona and many California cities. Harvey Toy, chairman of the California highway commission, and Dr. S. M. Johnson, director general of the Lee highway, were among the principal speakers.

The population of California has increased more than 1,000,000 since the last federal census in 1920, if estimates of the state school authorities, based upon records of elementary school nerollment, are accepted. These estimates place the present population of the state at more than 4,500,000 as compared with the last census figure of 3,426,851.

Harry Pidgeon, who left San Pedro about three years ago in a twenty-six-foot boat to circumnavigate the world, is now somewhere off the northeast coast of South America on the last leg of his voyage, according to Captain P. Johnson, master fo the tanker San Quirino, who sighted Pidgeon's small craft, the Islander, 400 miles off Trinidad Island.

A movement for statewide co-operative development was discussed at a meeting of directors of the California Development association at San Francisco, to which delegates went from many sections with problems of their districts.

A gasoline stove explosion cost the life of Mrs. Isa Hatakeda, wife of a Japanese vineyardist, near Woodlake. The woman, bedridden, was unable to make her escape and her husband, carrying the baby to safety first, was unable to reach her in time to prevent burns from which she died.

Launching a new drive to rid the city of horse racing touts and "bookies," the grand jury began an inquiry on which to base criminal action against "information peddlers," and betting bookmakers who operate in downtown San Francisco under the guise of news venders.

The California League of Municipalities gave its sanction to the consolidation plans now being pressed in some communities on the peninsula by voting enthusiastic endorsement of the twin measures offered by Assemblyman C. P. Spalding of Sunnyvale, to permit cities to consolidate with themselves contiguous territory which lies in another county.

After saving $1,000 from his life's earnings, Ah Tom, Woodland Chinese, decided to go to China where that much money would make him wealthy, but fell into the hands of bandits shortly before the steamer arrived in Hongkong harbor, and left penniless. Ah Tom worked for years on the Agnes and Mary Befmmerly ranches near Woodland.

SATIETY

Something within me cried out for cities,
And I, who was born of the sod,
Who was kin to the forests, the lakes and the rivers,
And the high hills of God,

Took the gay trail that led to adventure,
Felt the surge of the mighty throng,
Heard the world's voice rising higher and higher,
And joined in its song.

But now I am sated with clamor and bustle,
Excitement no longer has power to please,
I am tired of the turmoil, the din and the conflict
And my heart calls for trees.

Over the trail where my eager footsteps
Once carried me, swift, to the haunts of men,
I go like a tired child home to its mother,
Back to my own again.

—Ida M. Thomas.

Free State Will Pay

Dublin.—The Free State government has promised to redeem, in 1927, the Irish Republican bonds, which were issued to finance the Republican struggle in Ireland.
